

TRIP TIPS

TOURIST TRAPS

You get off the plane. The trip was turbulent. You collect your bags and you have only one thing in mind: get to the hotel quickly..

At the exit of the airport, an endless line-up of taxis. But twist, there is a driver who rushes you.

Taxi?

You're a little suspicious, but he has a real car taxi license and a photo. You specify the name of your hotel. Once the cat out of the bag: the fare is astronomical.

Your mistake: you did not take a taxi, but a limousine.

The solution Watch the fare type practiced before letting the driver take your luggage.
